A young man in Teheran ~~has~~ (→ had) saved for years to buy a real bed. For the first time in his life, he becomes the proud owner of a bed which has springs and a mattress. Because the weather is very hot, he carries the bed on to the roof of his house. He sleeps very well for the first two nights, but on the third night, a storm blows. The wind sweeps the bed off the roof and sends it crashing on the street below. The young man does not wake up until the bed has struck the ground. Although the bed is smashed to pieces, the man is unhurt. He wakes up and he is still on the mattress. Bits of wood and metal are around him. He picks up the mattress and carries it into the house. He puts it on the floor and goes to sleep again.
